Urquhart, and Douglas Lee. These along with Sergt. Bone and several of the officers of the 187th were on the job in good time on Friday morning, by early afternoon the list had been lengthened by the addition of the following: E. E. Edwards, C. Burgess, band; Wm. Wilson, B. Furber, D. Cummins, J. Cavander, H. Vambach, all joining the 187th Batt. MOTHER AND BABY

The fond mother always has the welfare of her little ones at heart. She is continually on the watch for any appearance of the maladies which threaten her little ones. Thousands of mothers have learned by experience that nothing will equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the children well. Concerning them Mrs. R. Morehouse, Blisfield, N.D., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine I have ever used for my baby. He was very cross until the Tablets soon put him right again." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Spreading Good News Broadcast

WANTS EVERYBODY TO KNOW DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED HIM

Louis Champagne, After a Long Period of Sickness and Weakness, Says He Found New Health in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Millersand, Ont.—(Special)—Strong and hearty again after a long period of weakness and ill-health, Louis Champagne, a well known resident of this place, is spreading broadcast the good news that he found new health and strength in Dodd's Kidney Pills. "For a long time," Mr. Champagne states in an interview, "I suffered from kidney disease and backache. My appetite was uncertain, and I got up in the morning with a bitter taste in my mouth. There were flashes of light before my eyes, and I had a dragging sensation across the loins. My limbs were heavy and I was always tired."

"Then I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I am glad to be able to say that two boxes made me well. I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all those who suffer from feebleness or bad kidneys."

If you have the symptoms mentioned by Mr. Champagne you may be sure your kidneys need attention. Neglected kidneys are the cause of more than half the ills mankind is heir to. The way to treat sick or weak kidneys is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

One of the large railroads in India is experimenting with steel passenger cars, lined with wood that is insulated against the heat of the metal with asbestos.

Pills of Attested Value.—Purloine's Vegetable Pills are the result of careful study of the properties of certain roots and herbs, and the action of such as sedatives and laxatives on the digestive apparatus. The success the compounders have met with attests the value of their work. These pills have been recognized for many years as the best cleansers of the system that can be got. Their excellence was recognized from the first and they grew more popular daily.

We recently heard a remark by an old Kentucky farmer which seems worth entering for the ungrammatical essence prize. To a visitor he observed, "Them three Miss Perkins is three of as pretty a gal as ever I see."

No man or woman should hobble about because of corns when so certain a relief is at hand as Holloway's Corn Cure.

Aching Back Gets Relief Quick! One Rub With "Nerviline" Cures

Every Bit of Stiffness and Soreness Goes When "Nerviline" is Used

Pain in back or side is awful hard to reach. Deep in the tissue is a congested or strained muscle. It is a long way for a liniment to go. Liniments you have used have not reached it, and the pain bothers you, whether moving or lying down. What a pity you haven't tried Nerviline! Penetrating, you ask? Yes, and powerful, too. Nerviline strikes in far deeper than any application you have ever used. You might pay a dollar, ten dollars, a hundred, for that matter, but you could not equal Nerviline, either in strength, quickness of action, or permanency of relief.

If you think this too much to say for Nerviline, try it, and be convinced.

If you receive from Nerviline even little less relief from pain than this advertisement induces you to expect, you can get your money back.

The only pain remedy in the world sold under a guarantee is Nerviline—surely it is safe to try it.

Nerviline is sold by druggists everywhere, 25 cents or 50 cents a bottle, or direct from The Catarhizone Co., Kingston, Canada.

"When Jones bought his new house it was with the express understanding that he should have a room all of his own—a den or study."

"Yes, I know what you mean. Did he get it?"

"Yes, and his wife furnished it."

"With a sewing machine, a cutting table, two dressers, dummies, three mirrors, and a full-length mirror.—Tit-Bits.

Husband (explaining income tax)—You see, my dear, if our income is over a stated amount we have to pay the government.

Wife—And if it is under that amount does the government have to pay us?

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house.

Despite the numerous "cures," case continues to increase.

"This typewriting gets on my nerves."

"Now I'm well and enjoy my work."

Neurasthenia or Exhaustion of the Nervous System.

It is quite possible for the nervous system to be considerably exhausted before you realize the seriousness of your condition. You do not feel up to the mark, are easily tired out, worry over little things, and get cross and irritable, but do not consider yourself sick.

For this reason we shall give an outline of the symptoms so that you may be warned in time and use preventive treatment at a time when it will do the most good.

1. General discomfort—excitement and depression alternating.
2. Headache and sometimes dizziness, and deafness.
3. Disturbed, restless, unrefreshing sleep, interrupted by dreams.
4. Weakness of memory, particularly of recent events.
5. Blurring sight, noises and ringing in the ears.
6. Disturbance of sensibility or feeling, as in hands, or, with women, in the breasts.
7. Coldness of parts of body or flushing and sweats.
8. Lack of tone, easily fatigued, dyspepsia.
9. Fear to be alone, or in a crowd, fear of things falling, fear of travelling, etc.

These symptoms indicate that the nerves are being starved for lack of rich, red blood. Certain elements are lacking which can best be supplied by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This cure is easily available and awaits alone your action in applying it. There is no question of the merits of this food cure. Enquiry among your friends will prove to you use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and men, too, are being restored to health and vigor by use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

50 cents a box, 9 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations disappoint.

Telephone for Every 15 Persons in Canada

1,396 Companies Have Earned Over
$4,000,000

According to the annual blue book of the railway department giving telephony and express statistics, there is now one telephone for every 15.1 persons in Canada. The increase in the use of the telephone has been steady during the past few years, even in war conditions do not seem to have interrupted the progress. The number of telephones reported as being in use in 1915 was $32,090, an increase of 11,946 over 1914. The principal growth was in rural districts. The net earnings of the 1,396 companies in Canada totalled $4,764,597, which was $350,091 better than the result of 1914. The total capitalization of Canadian telephone companies now amounts to $74,285,000.

Express earnings for 1915 show some shrinkage, owing to war conditions. Gross earnings for 1915 amounted to $11,311,797, as compared with $12,646,451 for 1914. Net earnings totalled only $68,668, as compared with $353,455 in 1914. The earnings of the net earnings, however, is perhaps not so significant as might be supposed, when it is known that the express companies paid last year to railroads and other carrying agencies for express service an amount of $5,610,224. This latter amount went in reality to the transportation companies, and not the stock of the express companies.

The Demands of the Time

The Farmer is Providing a Good-sized Portion of the Ammunition

The man who produces one pound of anything of value, this is the man who improves the breed of his own cattle, the man who makes two blades of grass grow where one grew before, is adding to the wealth of the nation, to the richness of the country. Not alone is that the case, but he is contributing his bit to civilization and to the welfare of the world. It is given to the farmer and breeder to see his native land more by the power of the ordinary follower of any other occupation. The farmer by his unaided efforts, except by the gifts of nature, can maintain his wife and family. No other man in the world's vineyard can say so much unless he is willing to go naked and that he is willing to go naked times after the pangs of hunger. And the claims upon the farmer and his fellow, the breeder, in present circumstances are not only urgent but many.

There are people who object to the assertion that the agriculturist is making the earth yield its utmost in tending his flocks, and herds with care, diligence and intelligence, in doing his bit, the man who is the backbone of the nation. He is not directly placing his own life in jeopardy per se, but he is helping to sustain those who are.

He is providing a good sized portion of the ammunition which is not in the assertion itself, but in the use that is made of it by the man who has no aptitude for the right and the probabilities are, in doing his full bit neither in agriculture nor in any other, but in the industry. There are possibly men on the land who would be more use on the field in battle, but only for a short time, the men who are of value to the soil and to the farm are the men who are away some means must be found to replace them.

Canada's future lies in the womb of her agriculture. To make the best use of the opportunities that are and will be taken, the agricultural place in the world's economies, we must toil without ceasing. We must produce and we must use, we must bend all our energies to results, we must utilize waste and, amidst it all, we must focus our eyes upon the future and pay our respects to conservation. Our position is unique in nearness to, and in our facilities for reaching, the best markets. Transportation just now may be difficult and expensive, but it will not always be so, and when the time comes for greater freedom of trade we must be prepared for it. This can be done not alone by industry, but also by economizing, and by hoarding, but by the judicious use of our resources. A truth ever to be born in mind is that what is wasted by fools is turned into profit by the wise. Even in the midst of the campaigns of destruction and ferocity, Germany, so now is named across the sea, is devoting attention to education and internal improvement and development.

Families Never Saw the Sun

In Galicia, where the Russians won a victory, there is one of the most remarkable underground cities in the world. It has a population of over 1,000 men, women and children, most of whom have never seen the light of day.

It is known as the City of the Salt Mines, and is situated several hundred feet below the earth's surface, its being due to the great salt mines in the world, which though it has been mined for centuries, is as inexhaustible. The city has its town hall, church, theatre and assembly room, all made from the crystallized rock salt. It has long wide streets and big squares, lighted by electricity.

There are numerous instances of families in this underground city where not a single individual in three or four generations has seen the sun.

The Sixth Overseas Universities Company

Reinforcements for the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry

Canadians, of whatever nationality, thrill as they recall the wonderful record made by the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry at Festubert, at Ypres, and many other battlefields in Belgium; how, in the face of overwhelming odds, they held their positions by their courage, steadiness and perseverance.

For nearly a year the P.P.C.L.I. (as the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry is known in military circles) has been reinforced by a steady flow of recruits of the very finest of our Canadian manhood. These recruits, many now veterans, are determined that this fine battalion shall not lose its high record, but with their help shall have added honor and prestige in the future.

The reinforcements have been drawn from all over Canada, and the Universities of Canada have made a large contribution. Already 3,350 officers and men have gone forward under the title of the Universities Companies, and are doing their "bit" at the front or at Shorecliffe. Five Universities Companies have left.

The number of men volunteering from the west has been simply wonderful. So great is the enthusiasm of the Western Canadian Universities decided to send overseas a battalion composed of students and graduates of the Western Universities and members of the teaching staff. This battalion is known as the 1916th Western Universities Battalion, C.E.F.

The object of the Western Universities Battalion and of the Universities Companies is the same in the west as it is in the east, and the Universities Companies are not identical in this respect. The Western Universities Battalion is for the purpose of sending overseas a battalion composed of students and graduates of the Western Universities and members of the teaching staff. This battalion is known as the 1916th Western Universities Battalion, C.E.F.

The P.P.C.L.I. is now composed mainly of men from the Universities Companies and the steady flow of reinforcements for this battalion must not only be kept up to the standard of the recruits must always be the "best that Canada can send."

There are many men of the University type whose hearts grow warm when they read and hear the name of the Princess Patricia's, for they have brothers, relatives and friends in it, and they wish they could have an opportunity of joining it. To these men the news that a sixth company is being recruited under Major McKernan, of McGill University in Montreal, will be welcome.

The Sixth Company is in comfortable quarters at McGill University, and all the advantages of the use of the McGill Campus and the University Building, including the McGill Overseas Service, are available.

The Universities Companies have been almost overwhelmed with the number of the residents of Montreal and its suburbs. The training of the Companies has been an exceptionally efficient character, and has been of a nature to develop specialists, some at munitions, others at signalling, others at tactical exercises, and again others in physical training, bayonet fighting and so on.

The great advantage of these companies is that men of the same social status go forward together, and find a large number of congenial spirits. Another advantage is the rapidity with which they go forward to the front. The training in Montreal usually takes about three months, and after two months further training in England they take their place in the line without unnecessary delay. The reason for this is the fact that these companies reinforce a battalion already at the front.

A considerable number of the men who have joined the Universities Companies have been reaching England, obtained commissions in the British and Canadian units. It is, of course, impossible to make any guarantee as to promotion of this character, but the nature of the training received and the reputation of the Universities Companies make the chances of promotion excellent for the type of men that the Universities Companies accept.

Intending recruits are examined locally by an army medical officer, receive their transportation to Montreal, and immediately obtain their uniforms, and start their training without delay. Readers are invited to make known to their friends this opportunity. The officer commanding the 6th Overseas Universities Company, McGill University, Montreal, will be glad to supply any further information that may be required.

"Place, ma'am," said a little girl to the woman who lived next door, "mother was to know if you could lend her your gramophone this afternoon."

"What an extraordinary request! Is she going to give a dance?"

No, ma'am. We're tired of dancing to it. It's 250 cents to keep it quiet for a couple of hours so that baby can sleep!"

Client—Yes.

Lawyer—Well, that's the advice.

Keeping Accounts

System of Keeping Records Will Show up in Farm Affairs

Bookkeeping has not as yet played an important part in the work of the farmer. On small farms where the income and the outgo amount to only a few hundred dollars a year there is not such a pressing need of spending much time on account. On larger farms, or in the case of high-priced land, however, where the investment runs into thousands of dollars, there will be financial gain in utilizing some sort of acute bookkeeping system.

The more keeping of accounts, however, unless it leads to improved practice, amounts to nothing in farming or in dairy operations. If the record of one department of the farm shows up favorably when the profits are summed up, more emphasis can be placed on that phase of the work, so as to make a still better showing. In no department do records shed more light than when applied to dairy cows. There are leaders or boarders in every herd, and those who are most up-to-date are willing to go to the trouble of keeping accounts of each individual cow so that the robbers may be sifted out and sent to the slaughter.

In general principles there is an educational value in the keeping of accounts. While in a measure the farmer's bank balance is a fairly good guide as to how things are coming along financially, still the perfection of a system of records adds immensely to the interest we have in certain aspects of the business. The painstaking talent that is developed by a system of keeping records will show up in farm affairs handled over and from that standpoint alone there will be gain that is worth while.

When Cooperation Fails

Good Feelings Should Not Take the Place of Business Method

A group of farmers ordered a carload of mill feed on a co-operative basis. One of them volunteered to look after the business end of the deal, to let the others know when the feed arrived. It came in due time, and so did all the farmers except one. This one is a man whom everybody likes and trusts, a man whose word is as good as his bond.

He had some good excuse for not being there, so the man who was looking after the order secured a place to put his part of the feed and sent him word where to get it. Some time afterwards he sent for the feed. Still later—some months later—he met the man who had ordered the feed for him, and passed him—the exact cost of the feed.

He did not say a word about paying for the trouble of finding a storage place and putting the feed in it, or about paying him the money the business manager had advanced for him. He doubtless appreciated the kindness of the business manager, and would certainly have done as much for him; but he failed to consider that this friend was not a business man, but a farmer, and that, like him, he had some labor, and the interest on something like a hundred dollars for two or three months.

The man who acted as business manager in this deal has about concluded that it pays him better to let it alone than to try to co-operate with his neighbors in buying. He says farmers are so neighborly that they want good feelings to take the place of business methods.

His distastefulness is not to be wondered at. The spirit of neighborliness and good will must be the basis of all successful co-operative enterprises, but this neighborliness must be put on a business basis, and must not love the neighbor less for keeping accurate accounts with him.—The Country Gentleman.

Shade Trees

It is an extravagant idea, characteristic of the times, that in order to have beautiful shade trees along our roads and around our homes it is necessary to purchase them at fancy prices from commercial nurseries. This is far from the truth. It is possible to plant merely the tree seeds in prepared spots about a foot square. Of course it will take some time for these seeds to develop into large-sized trees, but remember that we are planting for the next generation. During the ten years that we would think about purchasing these trees without doing so, our seeds will have developed into attractive-looking young trees. Or these days before the busy season of transplanting from the forest, the young seedlings and pick out the required number of promising trees so that when transplanting time comes there will be no time lost in searching around for suitable trees. In transplanting from the forest, the temptation is always to choose trees of too large a size. The smaller a tree the easier it may be transplanted and the quicker it recovers from this shock. The safest way is to select small trees without over four feet tall. As much soil as possible should be taken up with the tree and held intact, so as not to break the very small and fine roots. As it is almost impossible to dig up a tree with large trees without breaking some of the roots, it is generally advisable to stop the use of the branches of the crown and to cut the lower branches off close to the main stem. This restores equilibrium between the reduced root system and the crown.

As the tree develops it is necessary to continue to remove the lower branches until the lowest are sufficiently high from the ground. In this way a long trunk and a branching crown are secured. It should be remembered that a branch six feet from the ground always remains six feet from the ground, for a tree grows in height, not in tip only and does not stretch out its entire length as does a growing boy.

When a large amount of shade tree planting is to be done it is often advisable to purchase them from wholesale forest tree nurseries, who will furnish most of the desirable species for no more than the cost of $5 per 100 for small sizes. This would be less than the value of the labor required to move them from the woods.

When and how you get the trees is of minor importance, but you get and plant them. The time necessary to plant a few each year will never be missed and within a few years the value of your farm will be increased out of all proportion to the time spent in planting the trees.

Must Work to Beat Subs

A Greater Output on the Clyde is Urgently Needed

Arthur Henderson, president of the board of education, who is also chairman of the naval advisory committee on war output, addressing a conference of the Clyde shipwright workers, stated that the workers must increase the necessity of doing better than they have yet done if the British war effort is to be maintained at the proper strength to support the extraordinary demands to assist it.

"During the early days of the war," he said, "in order to assist the navy, labor was transferred from merchant shipping until it was practically brought to a standstill. But I want to impress upon you that we can no longer afford to neglect the construction of merchant ships. We have to remember that the enemy is boasting of the success of his submarine policy, and there are other factors contributing to the pressing demand for an increase of shipping tonnage. The president of the board of trade has said that a total of 100,000 tons, no less than possible, be done to secure the rapid delivery of shipping now under construction. To secure this two things are absolutely necessary.

"The employment of skilled men must be such as to insure a high rate of work for which their special skill is essential and which cannot be performed by men and women, and all workers must be made to feel that their full time in wholehearted effort is being put into the winning the war."

Mr. Henderson referred to the grave consequences of the loss of the ship by the failure of men to work full time. In one Clyde area alone, out of a total of 100,000 tons, no less than 15,700 tons were thus lost. He concluded with an appeal to the workers to make the nation's need their own.

Foo'd the Spies

German Spies Paid a Good Price for Worthless Information

When France was first manufacturing her wonderful 75 mm. German spies conveyed the information that such a gun was on the way, and despite their efforts failed to obtain the plans regarding it.

Realizing the eagerness of Germany to obtain the plans for a branch responsible for the turning out of the invention thought it well to put them off the market. The French army military attaché in Paris had information secretly conveyed to him that a forerunner in the French arsenal was heavily in debt, and might be found for sale.

A spy agent was immediately sent to the workman, offering a huge sum for any details that might be furnished. The workman, who was acting the traitor to order, played his part well, and eventually handed over several drawings and plans of detached parts, and a complete set of plans of a gun of earlier pattern, which had not been a success. Further leakages of information were given to German foreign offices to inspect this gun of earlier pattern.

Germany felt she had nothing to learn from France in the line of artillery, and when war broke out the surprise was great when she found that her rival possessed a weapon that has been described as an "incalculable instrument, an element of victory."

Canadian Horses Very Satisfactory
That horses from this continent and especially Canadian horses, are giving the same satisfaction on the western front is asserted by Lieut. H. C. Cowan, of the Canadian Army, who returned to Canada recently.

"It is really marvelous," said Lieut. Cowan, "how little contagious disease one finds among the horses on the western front. The Canadian horses seem to be very hardy. Why, they will sleep out in the mud week after week, and be perfectly healthy all the time. I had charges of 1,000 horses for ten months on the western front, and in that time I had only three cases of pneumonia."

"I've got you stopped," put Lieut. Ellsworth. "I had charge of 1,500 horses for ten months on the western front, and had only one case of pneumonia."

Nine Germans an Hour

The story of a British sniper who hid himself in a well and picked off scores of Germans is related by a correspondent from the front. The sniper was a corporal, sent out to annoy the enemy. He selected a well-known village and made a long, low barrier of earth in front of him. Here he installed himself for his duty, doing so in the early morning he brought down no fewer than nine Germans in the first hour. By the fifth night he had grown haggard and "nervy." He dozed a great deal, and was liable to awake shivering at dawn. To his dismay he found his whereabouts in the village had been discovered. A fair-haired German giant arose in the grass 40 yards away. Recovering himself, the corporal promptly shot him dead. A few hours later he was relieved.

"Men must work and women must weep," was the German declaration—but then sometimes the women weep, and the men weep too.

That they may work the men.

Forest Destruction in Canada

The Canadian Soldier: "That's about the worst wreck of a forest I ever saw."

The Canadian Woodsman: "It is, eh? Then you ought to see what's left after a forest fire. I'll take you to a hundred townships right here in Canada where the trees have been cut down. We intend to replace the forest by European forests to be smashed and yet we smash our own by nearly 10,000 timber fire per annum."

The Soldier: "H'm! That's a new way of looking at it."

GLASS OF WATER

Upset Her

People who don't know about food should never be allowed to feed persons with weak stomachs.

Sometimes a young woman had an attack of scarlet fever, and when convalescing was permitted to eat anything she wanted. Indiscriminate feeding soon put her back in bed with severe stomach and kidney trouble.

"There I stayed," she says, "three months, with my stomach in such condition that I could take only a few teaspoonfuls of milk or beef juice at a time. Finally Grape-Nuts was brought to my attention and I asked my doctor if I might eat it. He said 'yes' and I commenced at once."

"The food did me good from the start and I was soon out of bed and recovered from the stomach trouble. I have gained ten pounds and am able to do all household duties, some days sitting down only long enough to eat my meals. I can eat anything that one ought to eat, but I still continue to eat Grape-Nuts at breakfast and supper and like it every day."

"Considering that I could stand only a short time, and that a glass of water seemed so heavy," I am fully satisfied that Grape-Nuts has been everything to me and that my return to health is due to it."

"I have told several friends having nervous or stomach trouble what Grape-Nuts did for me and in every case they speak highly of the food."

"There's a Reason." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Money in Flax On New Breaking

Prepares the Soil for Wheat and Provides Found Crop

J. H. Grisdale, B. Agr. Director Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa, says:

"For the new settler or the man with new breaking done before May 25 or 26, flax offers an opportunity for money making this year on this land such as is not possible with any other crop. Breaking about three inches deep, so as to fill all openings or space between the furrows, and to conserve any available moisture, as well as make a solid seed bed, will be such a preparation as gives a fair chance of a fair crop of flax, if good seed is carefully sown before the first of June. Sow seed at the rate of 30 to 40 lb. per acre."

Where wheat seeding has progressed rather slowly it will often be advisable to sow the last few acres intended for wheat to flax instead. The returns from the two crops are likely to be practically equal this year."

The flax crop will rot the sod on new breaking, and leave the soil in at least as good condition for wheat as if it had been summerfallowed. Besides, it will provide a substantial revenue for flaxseed has averaged around $2 a bushel for several months past."

An Effort to Find Ideal Food

Feeds Rats to Find What He Should Eat

More than 1,000 rats are being used in the agricultural chemistry department of the University of Wisconsin in an effort on the part of Professor E. V. McCollum to discover the ideal food that will cause people live the most efficient lives and grow at the best practical rate.

Although the experiments are being made upon rats, the results are known to be the same as if they were made upon human beings. Professor McCollum has already been at work for several years on this problem.

He has early discovered a perfect food, but is still in search of the chemical parts of the two unknown compounds, that will make up the ideal food for which he is searching.

NEW STRENGTH IN THE SPRING

Nature Needs Aid in Making New Health-Giving Blood

In the spring the system needs a tonic. To be healthy you must have new blood, just as the trees must have new sap to renew their vitality. Nature demands it, and without this new blood you will feel weak and languid. You may have twinges of rheumatism or the sharp stabbing pains of neuritis. Often there are disgusting pimples or eruptions on the skin. In other cases there is merely a feeling of tiredness and a variable appetite.

Any of these are signs that the blood is out of order—that the indoor life of winter has lessened your vitality. What you need in spring is a tonic medicine to put you right, and in all the world of medicine there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

These Pills actually make new rich, red blood—your greatest need in spring. This new blood drives out the seeds of disease and makes easily tired men, women and children bright, active and strong. Mrs. Eugene Cadotte, Amherstburg, Ont., says: "I suffered for a long time from dizziness, pain in the back and sick headache, and nothing else did me any good until I began Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These cured me after taking six boxes and I now feel better than ever I did in my life. I had fallen off in weight to 92 pounds, and after taking the Pills I had increased to 100 pounds."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or can be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Silver Lining

The Tender-Hearted Cook—No bad news, I 'ope, ma'am?

The Mistress—The master's been wounded.

The Cook—There now, ma'am, don't let that worry you. They tells me that your cat paws 'em up for ye's better than before—Sketch.

Automobile prices are being raised--but the Ford price has been reduced $120 since war began

The immense Ford cash purchasing power has made it possible to overcome in many ways the serious obstacles met with by other car makers because of the scarcity and advance in prices of raw materials.

The high Ford quality is strictly maintained—and the most exacting government tests have shown that Ford constructive material even excels that used in most high grade cars. This year the Ford car—always the most economical car to buy and to operate—beats all records for economy.
